

A Ludy Christmas

Susan-Elizabeth Littlefield slittlefield@wrbl.com

News Three On Your Side

Saturday, December 23, 2006

Long before most of us even thought about starting our holiday shopping or gift-giving... Jerry Ludy was already hanging lights.

Three months of fidgeting with wires and bulbs and displays and folks around here are saying his work is - spectacular.

Thirty three years of trial and error have come to this - the Ludy Christmas spectacular.

The word is out, lines of cars line up to catch a glimpse of the Ludy family's hard work.

And Jerry Ludy takes this display seriously, so seriously, he's part of a national organization called Planet Christmas...

He laughs, "It's where all the Christmas geeks get together."

Jerry, with the help of his wife Edith and son Keith, creates this beaming display every year for folks around town to, well, just enjoy.

The display is not only a visual display, this is a treat for the ears, the Ludy's broadcast music on 90.1 that synchronizes with the light display as you drive by.

To add another bright spot to onlookers' enjoyment, the jolly ole' man himself is known to make an appearance on-site.

The Ludy Family Spectacular is a tradition that keeps em' coming back for more...

And speaking of coming back, Jerry Ludy says 2007 will be bigger and brighter than ever before. So what should we expect? Jerry laughs, "Only Santa knows."

And you can still catch a glimpse of this year's display.

Mr. Ludy says he'll keep the lights going through New Year's. To find a link to the Ludy's Christmas website and directions to their house click here.

This story can be found at: http://wrbl.com/servlet/Satellite?pagename=WRBL%2FMGArticle%2FRBL\_BasicArticle&c=MGArticle&cid=1149192330089&path=!news

Go Back